

This algorithm is applicable only after chemical decontamination, performance of ATLS life-saving interventions, and management of higher-priority casualties. Multiple confluent wounds are an indication for operative management, regardless of the patient's signs or symptoms.

